

Quality Policy Statement

It is the objective of HyDRAM Engineering Limited to achieve the highest standards of quality and customer satisfaction in order to build on its success as a leading and profitable supplier of sheet metal components.

So that it can reach this objective, HyDRAM has a formal and documented quality system meeting the requirements of the International Standard BS EN ISO9001:2000.

HyDRAM is committed to the policy and to achieving the quality and business objectives. All staff are required to follow all quality system procedures relevant to their work to ensure the continued success of the company.

The company will seek continuous improvements to the quality management system and will go on reviewing the quality policy and business objectives.
